

Professor Nam Chi Sung (Chisung Nam)

Chair, International Committee – Japan Acupuncture and Moxibustion Association
Vice President – Osaka Acupuncture and Moxibustion Association
Senior Practitioner and Lecturer – Japanese Meridian Acupuncture

Professional Biography

Professor Nam Chi Sung (Chisung Nam) is an internationally recognized acupuncture practitioner and educator specializing in Japanese Meridian Therapy and traditional acupuncture techniques. He has extensive experience in clinical acupuncture practice, professional education, and international academic collaboration in the field of acupuncture and traditional medicine.

Chair of the International Committee of the Japan Acupuncture and Moxibustion Association and Vice President of the Osaka Acupuncture and Moxibustion Association. Through these roles, he actively promotes international cooperation and academic exchange between Japanese acupuncture institutions and global professional organizations.

Professor Nam is particularly known for his work in Japanese Meridian Acupuncture (Keiraku Therapy), a clinical approach emphasizing meridian-based diagnosis, gentle needling techniques, and individualized treatment strategies. His teaching and clinical practice focus on preserving the traditional principles of Japanese acupuncture while contributing to its international dissemination.

Academic and Leadership Positions

- Chair, International Committee, Japan Acupuncture and Moxibustion Association
- Vice President, Osaka Acupuncture and Moxibustion Association
- Senior Practitioner and Lecturer, Japanese Meridian Acupuncture

Clinical and Research Expertise

- Japanese Meridian Acupuncture (Keiraku Therapy)
- Gentle and minimal stimulation acupuncture techniques
- Meridian-based diagnosis and treatment strategies
- Clinical acupuncture therapy and treatment methodologies
- International cooperation in acupuncture education and professional training

International Academic Activities

Professor Nam Chi Sung has actively participated in numerous international academic activities related to acupuncture and traditional medicine, including:

- Invited lectures at international acupuncture conferences
- Participation in international academic exchange programs
- Organization and teaching of workshops on Japanese acupuncture techniques

- Academic collaboration with acupuncture institutions and professional organizations worldwide

Through these activities, he has contributed to strengthening global understanding and recognition of Japanese acupuncture practice.

Areas of Academic Interest

- Meridian-based diagnostic systems in acupuncture
- Minimal stimulation acupuncture techniques
- Clinical applications of Japanese acupuncture methods
- Integration of traditional acupuncture approaches with modern healthcare practice
- International development of acupuncture education and training

International Contributions

Professor Nam Chi Sung has played an important role in promoting international collaboration in acupuncture through his work with Japanese acupuncture associations. His contributions include:

- Supporting academic cooperation between Japanese acupuncture organizations and international institutions
- Promoting Japanese acupuncture techniques in global academic forums
- Contributing to the international development of acupuncture education and clinical practice

Keynote Profile

Professor Nam Chi Sung is widely respected for his clinical expertise in Japanese acupuncture and his dedication to international academic collaboration. His keynote lectures focus on the principles, techniques, and clinical applications of Japanese Meridian Therapy, as well as the global development of acupuncture education and practice.