

People's Doctor Vu Nam, MD, PhD, Associate Professor

Director – Central Hospital of Traditional Medicine,
Vietnam

Vice President – Vietnam Traditional Medicine Association

Professional Biography

People's Doctor, Associate Professor Vu Nam is a distinguished Vietnamese clinician, researcher, and healthcare administrator in the field of traditional medicine. With more than three decades of professional experience, his work focuses on the diagnosis and treatment of diseases using traditional medicine, as well as the integration of traditional medicine with modern medical practice.

He holds a Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) and Doctor of Medicine (MD) degree and has been awarded the honorary title of People's Doctor in recognition of his outstanding contributions to healthcare in Vietnam. Throughout his career, he has played a significant role in advancing traditional medicine research, clinical practice, and medical education.

Currently serving as Director of the Central Hospital of Traditional Medicine of Vietnam, he is responsible for hospital management, scientific research development, and the promotion of traditional medicine within the national healthcare system. He also serves as Vice President of the Vietnam Traditional Medicine Association and holds several important academic and professional roles in traditional medicine education and research.

Academic and Leadership Positions

- Secretary of the Party Committee and Director, Central Hospital of Traditional Medicine – Vietnam
- Director, Training and Referral Center – Central Hospital of Traditional Medicine
- Director, International Cooperation Center – Central Hospital of Traditional Medicine
- Vice President, Vietnam Traditional Medicine Association
- Member, Northern Healthcare Council for Senior Officials – Central Committee for Health Protection of High-Level Officials
- Editor-in-Chief, Vietnam Journal of Traditional Medicine
- Deputy Editor-in-Chief, Vietnam Journal of Acupuncture

Clinical and Research Expertise

- Diagnosis and treatment using traditional medicine therapies
- Clinical application of traditional herbal medicines
- Integration of traditional medicine with modern medical treatments
- Development and standardization of traditional pharmaceutical preparations
- Evaluation of safety and efficacy of traditional medicine therapies

International Academic Activities

Associate Professor Vu Nam actively participates in academic and professional activities related to traditional medicine research, education, and international cooperation. His activities include contributing to academic publications, participating in professional exchanges, and supporting collaboration between hospitals, universities, and research institutions in the field of traditional medicine.

Areas of Academic Interest

- Clinical application of traditional medicine therapies
- Traditional herbal medicine research and development

- Standardization of traditional pharmaceutical preparations
- Integration of traditional medicine with modern healthcare systems
- Development of traditional medicine education and professional training

International Contributions

Through his leadership and academic activities, Associate Professor Vu Nam has contributed significantly to the development of traditional medicine in Vietnam. His work includes advancing clinical research, supporting the development of traditional medicine education, and strengthening cooperation between healthcare institutions and academic organizations in traditional medicine.

Keynote Profile

People's Doctor, Associate Professor Vu Nam is widely recognized for his expertise in traditional medicine and healthcare management. His keynote presentations often focus on the clinical application of traditional medicine, the integration of traditional and modern medical treatments, and the development of traditional medicine systems within contemporary healthcare.